

THE PAVILIONS

Romance Choice For All Seasons

Probably the world's best boutique hotel built for romance and intimacy, the Pavilions in Phuket is a first choice for couples, newly weds and those wishing to get back where they once were. Here's why.

There are but few precious moments when life affords us the luxury of love and for those of us who rise to them, a spot of paradise to enjoy them in. The Pavilions in Phuket is built to afford that much sought-after privacy that newly-weds or lovers need – a sort of five star nest in the lush green hills of Phuket offering vistas worth remembering.

Jean-Christophe Nager the hotel's general manager and industry veteran holds forth on the hotel's place amidst the competition.

Private Retreat

"We don't aim to be everything to everybody. You won't see tour buses sneaking up to our hotel. We offer elegance, a beautiful five star product that you can experience your life's most precious, tender-most moments in and one of the most attentive teams to look after your every need," says Nager.

"We offer a great 'can-do' attitude and often customize a guests' stay to ensure their time with us is memorable. Our picturesque pool villas and suites are spacious, appointed to the very highest standards and a visit to our inviting home page would attract the most discerning guest."

Well-trained staff ensure guests' satisfaction be it with in-suite spa treatments or special theme-based celebrations.

"I believe in staff empowerment. Our experienced team is free to innovate and act accordingly to ensure that the guest's needs come first. The defining factor of competition today is differentiation. We differentiate ourselves by not just a world-class product but also an unri-

Jean-Christophe Nager: "We differentiate ourselves by not just a world-class product but also an unrivalled quality of heartfelt service that comes from the heart."

valled quality of heartfelt service that comes from the heart."

For all Seasons

The Pavilions has all a VIP guest could want for a romantic escape from the world. Abundant spa pleasures, a well equipped gym, the Plantation Club and the 360 degrees Bar and Grill and of course, private dining served the way you'd want it.

"I believe that peace and tranquility are priceless and here I've seen just how important privacy can be. Some guests just switch off their phones the moment they check in. The hotel has rave reviews on global travel sites like Trip Advisor and across travelogues internationally. We deliver on promises and then throw in a few surprises to show our gratitude and concern for our guests. The quality of our service is a reflection of our abilities and that's what inspires us to give more than our best."

"We have seen a steep increase in business coming from China, Hong Kong and Taiwan and would love to see that segment grow. We invite all your readers to check out our home page and make Phuket your next holiday destination and let us show you an amazing city and an incomparable hotel," concludes Nager. ■

For additional information please visit www.thepavilionsresorts.com